

GIVING THANKS IN A DIGITAL WORLD

It's the perfect time of year to tell the people you appreciate the most those two simple words - thank you.

Write a Thank You Note

This timeless, yet nearly forgotten, gesture is a simple way to send an personal thank you or simple hello to acknowledge your customers. You're sure to be remembered in 2021 with this act of kindness.

Shoot a Quick Video

Nearly everyone has the technology in their pocket to take a short video to send to their customers to show some well-earned gratitude.

Write on Their Wall

Find their social media profile and send a public message that lets them know how appreciated they are. This has the added benefit of being easy to share across social media platforms.

Give Thanks in Your Head

This one may seem silly, but evidence suggests that merely thanking someone in your mind can bring you the mental benefits of gratitude.

Since we're in a thanking mood, this special message is just for you as our newsletter readers. Simply put - thank YOU!
